

Session 5

Narrative- understanding the characters

Today's LI: To revise the rules of speech punctuation.

Resources: Pen and Paper or exercise book and your fabulous brain

Today you're going to:

- Learn why speech punctuation is important.
- Learn the rules for punctuating speech.

Click here for the link to the speech mark song.

"Go to the back," barked Koro.

Koro barked, "Go to the back."

- Practice punctuating speech sentences correctly.
- To apply the rules in your own writing.

Look back at this clip if you need to remind yourself of the conversations.

Click here: you will need to skip to roughly half way through the video.

Click here to access the teaching video for this.

Activity:

Can you punctuate these sentences?

does Koro know you're doing that asked Hemi

i'm not doing anything Paikea retorted

Rewrite the sentences with the correct punctuation.

Speech Second

Can you punctuate these sentences?

Hemi bragged we're going to be chiefs

Hemi asked how come he won't let you do it

Rewrite the sentences with the correct punctuation.

Can you spot the mistakes?

"You're not holding it right." explained Hemi.

Paikea moaned "I'm not allowed."

"I'll show you how to do it", offered Hemi.

Koro muttered, "I'll deal with you later."

Use the film clip to write two sentences of speech first and two sentences of speech second.

Speech first:

Speech second:

