After you have read the story, go away and design your own front cover. You'll need to include a picture, the title and the illustrator/author's name (you!) You can use a different animal if you like and change the animal in the title too. Keep the wording the same though but if your animal is a pink giraffe, change it to 'Pink Giraffe, Pink Giraffe, What do you see?' We will write and draw in our book for the next couple of days this week.
